

White Safety Card

Many students will enter the building and construction industry through a variety of occupations. One of the requirements to get onto a construction site is the successful completion of the construction industry induction – also known as the White Card.

This is nationally recognised and issued to a person who successfully completes competency unit CPCCOHS1001A (Work Safely in the Construction Industry). People that require this card include the self employed, apprentices, trades persons, labourers and anyone working on a construction site (e.g. students on structured work placement).

From February 2019, training for the white card must be undertaken face to face in Queensland.

Below are some RTOs who deliver face to face courses on the Gold Coast.
